EDM: ACTS & FACTS

When I started ConFact in English, too, some years ago, I was not sure if fans would remember older times when there was a typewriter in one corner & mimeo to put impressions down.
This IS a typewriter as you realise at once (when you hear the bell).

Ju Honisch:

Beautiful Barcelona, where people speak 150 syllables in one second!
Wonderful con and great people. Oh, and there's Sangria Ramblas, a kind of personified rocket fuel!

Marcin 'Alqua' Klak:

Bcon has started and we have arrived here from Poland. We have a free fanzine 'Smokopolitan' with us. Feel free to come to our fantable and grab your free copy :)

Roberto Quaglia:

Good beginning of the convention. Many interesting people and a nice surprise at the ConFact table: a memory which has been hidden in my mind for decades emerged: the technique I used as a teenager for printing my first fanzine!

Flora Stagliano:

Very excited about coming back to Eurocon after many years! Good beginning of a great convention. Hope to make many new friends!

Gabriella Gregori:

This is my first time at Eurocon and I am already having fun. It is nice to type in the "old way", great idea!

Matthew Kunkel:

BCon begins friday morning with three languages: English, Spanish, and Catalan. Translation takes much time.
Sometimes later German fans tell about German sf culture. So, about 15 Europeans are cleverer now.

Demoniq:

Hallo alle! Es ist immer wunderbar, alte Bekannte und Freunde wiederum zu sehen. Eurocons sind echt faszinant :)

Vanja:

Hi! Come to SFeraKon 2017, May (powered by SFera).

Arno Behrend:

A very successful and very pleasant beginning for the U-Con-Crew. We have sold six memberships on friday morning. The presentation of German sf and fandom went very well with about 25 people listening. Rumours have reached me which are saying, that the opening ceremony of B-Con was "hijacked" by politicians involved in the funding. Instead of fun there were the usual boring speeches, translated by a fabulous interpreter. We have met Autun Purser again, our Graphic Guest of Honour. He is not only gifted but also a tremendously likable chap. I am looking forward to the next two days.

Peter from Belgium:

During the opening ceremony the translator was speaking so fast in Spanish that I was thinking I hope the time stops. But luck enough he survived without problems. Then it was time for the Aliens problem. But they did not mention the possibility for other dimensions like an alien from the sixth dimension or the aliens of the zero dimension. Overall a very nice talk about why we did not meet Aliens. Also the small universe we live on might be a reason why. Most important thing is that we are making it worth while in this beautiful city. Hopefully, I find the local trappist beer.

Pedro Cipriano:

I came here as an author, editor and fan. After the first day, I came across with so many realities across the european SF and I found my best expectations were already fulfilled. And it was just the first day...
