The Legend That is Richard Stephenson: WOW I get to write first. I Win!!

Jan vant Ent:
Majestic Eastercon to enjoy, going up and down a lot - obviously good excercise as well as having great fun. Centralised bar is useful, but squeaky revolving door is sometimes slightly alarming. Otherwise good value in newslatters, be it newfangled colour or stylish typewriter.

Dave Lally: delighted to hear of a probable Eastercon bid this year for 2020 (voted on on Sunday --Dining Room-- at 1000). Remember to join the 2019 Worldcon (Dublin) and scheduled one week later, Eurocon (Belfast) - the rates go UP very soon.

The Legend That is Richard Stephenson:

How Cute, a floppy disk. NOW that's what I call Retro.

Sabine Furlong:

Having a great time at Eastercon. Yesterday we actually went Pokemon hunting and I took part in my first raid. Totally cool. And yes, I call that science fiction...loosely. Jon Boden was great as well. Yes, he is a folk singer... and a darn good one... but he sang post apocalyptic songs. So that counts! What else did I do... am a roving gopher in and around Ops. If you want to be social, join Ops, we are a cool and social bunch. Right, off to see the art show. I am an artist, did I mention that? Am actually selling stuff. I am always amazed at that. See ya! HAVe been told to stretch it till the end of the page. noooooo problem!

Roberto Quaglio:

Happy to be here at the convention. Had a number of real ales already and soon I am supposed to enjoy a room party. Tomorrow I may even take part to some points of program. All the best!

Tobias Bodlund:

The Boundaries of Horror panel was excellent! Had occasion to contemplate it while going for a lovely Spaziergang in the park near the Majestic. The tall trees provided lovely shade to shield us against the low-key gray sunlight that was, admittedly, already amply filtered by the dense cloud cover. Looking forward to the Improv Comedy session today, though - as Ian Sales pointed out to me - that is something that is really going on all the time here... Great convention so far!

Ecki:

Next EasterCon Heathrow.

Con after next: perhaps Birmingham. Presupport - 5 pounds off..

This possible 2020 Eastercon is to be formally bid for at Eastercon 2019 (Ytterbium/Park Inn/Heathrow) but here at 2018 the Con team are taking monies early at -as mentioned above- a reduced rate of UK Pds 20 (instead of the full UK Pds 25 rate). Stand in the Dealers Room.

Not more for now.

What a pity!

Everyone wants to read, but it's not possible when there is no one to write something.
